SPEAKING WELL MATTERS

You want to stand out whenever you speak.

Speaking well turns your ideas into real-world action, builds trust with other people, and shapes how you are perceived and respected at work and in everyday life.

CONUNDRUM

Is there a quicker, more effective way?

Phonetics is arguably the most effective way to develop foundation of speech but phonetics is very academic in nature and most people are put off by the idea of going back to the classroom to learn to speak from scratch.

TRUTH #1

Will the training address MY areas of weakness?

Everyone – no exception – is at different levels of speech proficiency. So, a “common” speech training only helps a few learners. Your areas of weakness might not be covered in the training.

TRUTH #2

Will I be able to use the skill right away?

When phonetics is taught as an academic subject, there is little to no correlation to everyday speech, rendering such a class ineffective and a waste of time.

BEST OF BOTH WORLDS

I want instant improvement!

Reverse-Engineer Phonetics blends the academic aspects of phonetics with each learner's current level of speech proficiency, ensuring every learner improves their speech from their current state.

SOCIAL LEARNING

Every minute in this training is productively used!

Reverse-Engineer Phonetics uses the principle of social (observational) learning by focusing on learners' current skills and then observe and experience the transformation of these skills. Nothing feels academic; every lesson has observable purpose.

A MENTOR ALONGSIDE YOU

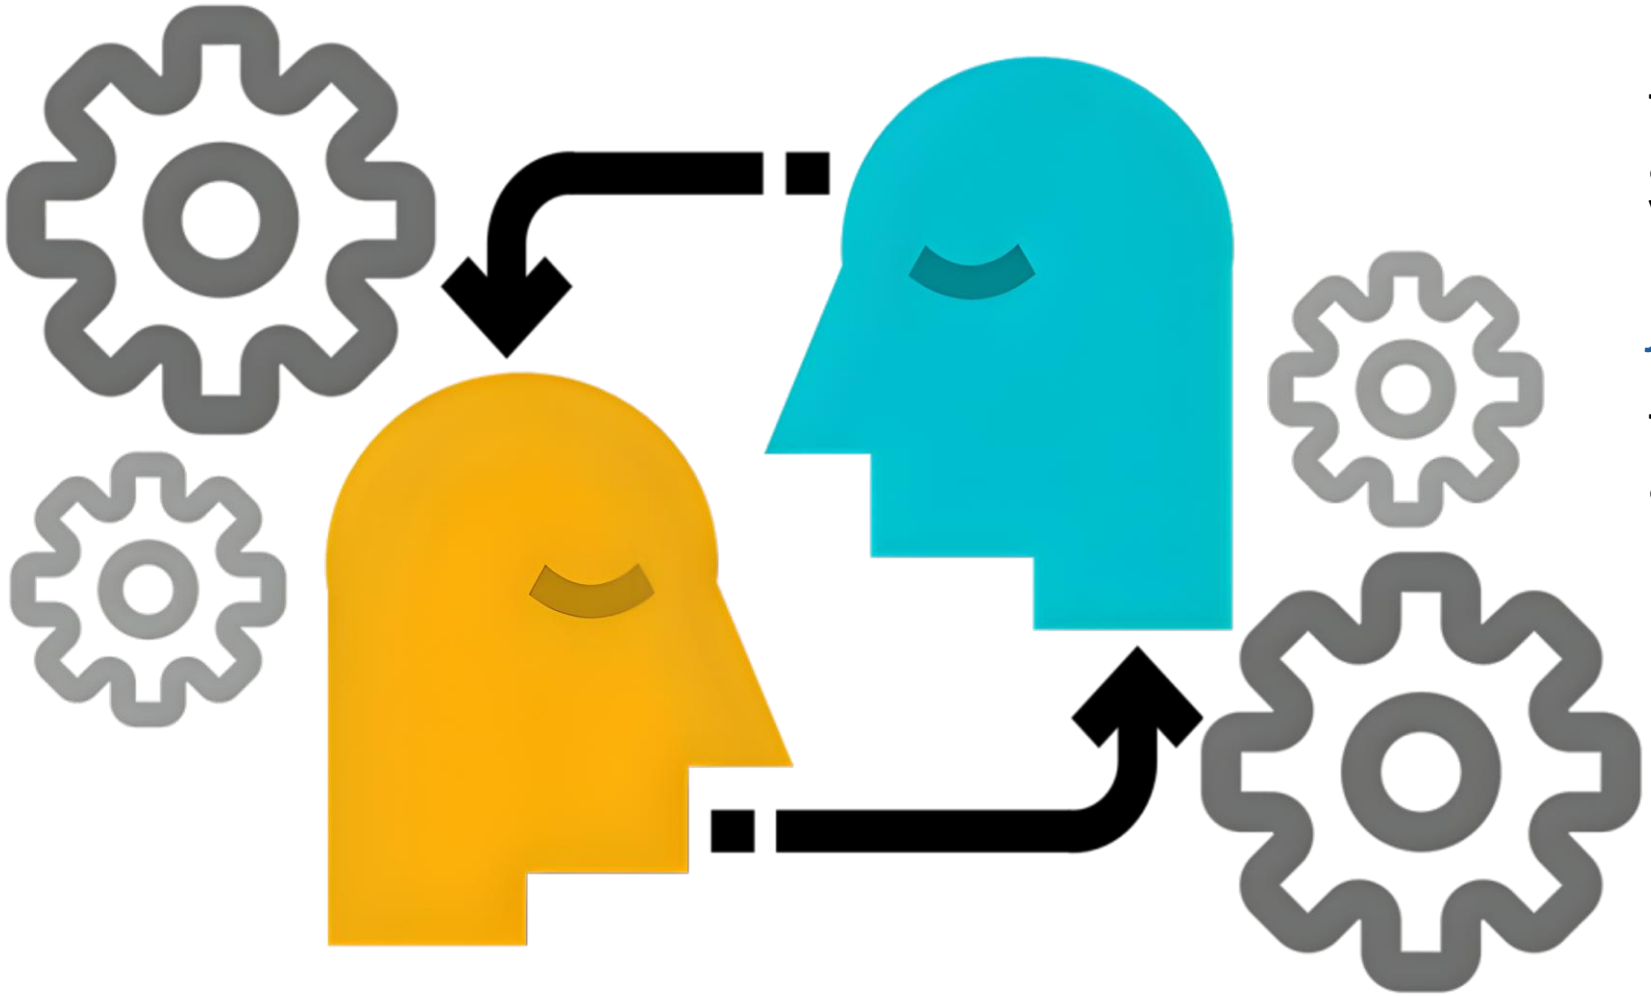

A peerless course that comes with a personal mentor.

A definite bonus is that you have a “personal” mentor– Phonetics Joe himself– to guide you throughout your transformation journey. Reverse-Engineer Phonetics is the only such programme in Asia.
